

Arrive in Bangkok

Claire- April 10th 12:30

Andrew- Arrives April 10th 7:30 AM (Etihad Airways)

Hotel info: Pullman Bangkok Hotel G

Address: 188 Silom Road Bangrak

Confirmation: 3616RD9558

Check-in: 3:00pm

April 10

We can meet up at Siam Paragon since i'll be arriving around 8am and you'll be coming in close to 1pm. We can go shopping or whatever grab a quick bite. It's about a half hour cab ride from the airport.

Siam Square Shopping (Siam Paragon)

Take cab from Siam Paragon to Pullman Hotel (188 Silom Rd)

Check into Pullman Bangkok Hotel G around 3:15 ish

Once we get situated in the hotel, we can chill and then get ready for a night out in Thonburi.
Let's shoot to check in around 3:15pm and head out to Thonburi by 4:45pm

1 Wat Arun

Any sightseeing list in Thonburi can only start at one place: Wat Arun. This ancient temple is one of Bangkok's most iconic temples thanks to its stunning riverside location and unique design with its towering central pagoda. Known locally as Wat Chaeng and sometimes romantically referred to as the 'Temple of Dawn', this breathtaking Buddhist monument is a firm favourite etched into the travel itineraries of the millions of visitors who visit Bangkok every year. Entrance is only 100 baht and you can also climb the steep steps for some great views over the Chao Phraya River.

To get there, hop on a river boat from the opposite side at Tha Thien Pier (about 3 baht to cross). Alternatively, you can book a private tour and explore Wat Arun whilst making your way through Thonburi's famous series of canals. Read More...

Opening Hours: 08:00 -17:30 daily

Location: West bank of Chao Phraya River (opposite Tha Thien Pier)

I know this temple is a lot nicer to check out at night so we can interchange the bar below and the temple! Either way it'll look dope... I literally can't wait to take pictures of everything. I'm already so hyped..

Since sunset in Thailand is at 6:30 everyday, I want to see if we can get to this rooftop bar by then. I think it would be an amazing ass view.

Post Sunset we can just wing it. Just walk around town grab drinks whatever.. If there's something specific you want to do while we're here we can do that!

April 11

Damnoen Saduak Floating Market

ADD TO TRIP! ❤️ 74

Well on the tourist trail after the Bond films, the trip to the famous floating market at Damnoen Saduak is still worth doing. Totally chaotic, small 'klongs' or canals are filled with small flat boats jockeying for position, expertly paddled by mature ladies ready to stop and bargain at a moment's notice. It's colourful, noisy, totally touristy but great fun. Read More...

Opening Hours: 07:00 - 11:00 (every day)

How to get there: Take a bus from the Southern Bus Terminal (+66 (0)2 434 5557-8) to Samut Sangkhram Ratchaburi province, 80 km southwest of Bangkok. You can then walk along the passageway to the market, or take a boat to the market pier.

Tour Available: Bangkok Floating Market : Damnoen Saduak

Early Departure from Hotel: $32

We can book the tour at the hotel the night before, which includes transportation there and back. I was looking at the transportation from the hotel to the floating market and it's over an hour away. It says we have to take a bus to the bus terminal which kinda seems like a process.. Also found that there's another floating market in Thonburi that's not as popular as the other one but a lot closer and cheaper. Either way I really don't mind.. Here's the other floating market:

Klong Lad Mayom is one of the best floating markets close to Bangkok. Located in Thonburi, this river market can be accessed by taking a taxi from Wongwian Yai BTS Station.

Unlike Thailand's most famous floating market, Damnoen Saduak (a little outside Bangkok), Thonburi's version is a lot smaller, has none of the crowds but it's overflowing with traditional Thai charm. Klong Lad Mayom Floating Market really specialises in fresh fruit and vegetables, although you'll find plenty of handicrafts, clothes and artwork for sale too. Even if you're not coming to buy anything, this picturesque spot makes for a perfect photo-op and escape from the traffic of central Bangkok. Read More...

Opening Hours: Saturdays, Sundays and public holidays from 9:30 to 16:30.

Location: 199/4 Rachadapisek Road (Thonburi)

How to get there: Taxi from Wongwian Yai BTS Station is about 150 baht.

If we went to the Klong Lad Mayom Floating Market, then we'd only be a half hour away from the Wat Pho Temple:

They close at 5 so we have to be smart on how long we're at the floating market and factor in travel time

Wat Pho

Opening Hours: Daily 08:00 - 17:00 (Massage available until 18:00)

Location: Maharat Road. Close to the river (about a half mile south of the Grand Palace), Old City (Rattanakosin)

Price Range: The entrance fee is 100 baht

I think we should go bar hopping at night! Sky Bar like you said from Hangover 3! It looks fucking flawless.. And then here's 3 more I saw that looks phenomenal (I think we should go clubbing tomorrow night)

2 Sky Bar - lebua at State Tower
Riverside - 63rd Floor

4 Park Society - Sofitel So on Sathorn
Sathorn - 29th Floor

6 Above Eleven
Sukhumvit - 32nd Floor

1 Vertigo - Banyan Tree Bangkok
Sathorn - 61st Floor

April 12

Wat Phra Kaew in Bangkok

Temple Of Emerald Buddha

So I was doing some research on some tips on how to dress at temples.. So apparantly, we're not supposed to bring up the King at all.. We're supposed to wear long sleeves shirts and pants or capris that cover your knees. It's also going to be like 100 degrees out that whole week. Lol so that'll be fun.

MON APR 10		Partly Cloudy	93°/81°
TUE APR 11		Mostly Sunny	94°/82°
WED APR 12		Sunny	94°/81°
THU APR 13		Mostly Sunny	94°/81°

Asiatique The Riverfront in Bangkok

Night Shopping At The Bazaar By The River

This riverfront shopping mall opens at 5 so I'm not really sure what we can do between the temple and this. But legit stoked. I also think we should get hammered and do the club scene this night. Cuz tomorrow we don't leave until 7 pm.. Which leads us tooooo

Khao San Road Nightlife

What To Do At Night In Khao San Road

3 Superflow City Beach Club

5 Lava Club

Those spots should suffice... also idk if we'll have time to go here afterwards but I'm definitely trying to check out this red light district that is:

Patpong in Bangkok

Bangkok Go Go Bars

The Go-Go Bars of Patpong

When it comes to go-go bars, favoured establishments on Soi 1 include King's Castle I and II, Sphinx and the Safari Bar, while King's Corner has the largest collection of post-operative transsexuals in Bangkok. Patpong II, or 'Soi Quality' as some like to call it, also has many adult-themed bars, especially Bada Bing A Go Go, probably the best venue in Patpong. Apart from a short run of rather run-down watering holes peopled by people drinking and playing Connect 4, the most well-known venue is perhaps Electric Blue and, definitely the most intriguing, Patpong's only fetish club, BarBar.

Here a few gogo bars are found on each side on the Patong area. Some are quite hard to miss and some others are just behind a discreet door. In the bars at street level, prices are usually fixed and the bill is brought to you at your table, so no bad surprise with the usual 120 to 150 baht for a beer.

Whatever your take is on the Go-Go Bar scene, there's no denying that Patpong is still far safer than your average Western city centre. It's very well policed - there's a Tourist Police Office at the end of the road, and CCTV cameras - and you'll find entire families nonchalantly walking around during market hours.

How Not To Get Ripped Off in Patpong!

Go-Go bars located on ground level along the two streets of Patpong are free to get in as long as you order a drink, which costs around 120 baht... but be aware that there are tricky places that will cost you a lot more without actually delivering anything better – and they may even be worse.

How to recognize the trick:

1. Someone will approach you with a nice list of fun entertaining features such as a 'ping pong show' and other well-known activities with 'colourful' names. So far, nothing really unusual.
2. He will say "It's free to see for five minutes"... which means it won't be free after the five minutes are up and as the guy seems trustworthy and speaks really fast, you somehow forget this fact.
3. The place could be on Patpong itself or a side street, but if the bar is upstairs and the bar has no sign and no name, get ready to be ripped off (nicely but effectively).
4. Once you are in, the show will have only one act and you will be asked for a tip, and another tip, and another... Basically you will have to tip for each 'trick' performed. And believe us, the staff have mastered the art of making you feel really cheap if you don't tip them.
5. You will be asked to buy a lady drink, whether the lady sits next to you or even stands across the room... each drink costs at least 200 baht.
6. You will not see the bill until the last minute. In most normal A Go-Go Bars or beer bars, your bill is placed in a small box (known as a "bin") in front of you, which allows you to check the damage as you drink and let you decide if you want to offer another round or not. Usually a drink is around 100 to 120 baht. In the dodgy ones the bill never comes until the last moment.
7. If you ask how much a lady drink will cost you, the answer is always 'same as yours', so naturally you think 100 to 120 baht... wrong, it's 200 to 300 baht.
8. When the bill comes, it'll be about 1,000 baht and don't even waste your time arguing; you won't win... just pay up and smile, realising you've got a nice story to tell your friends – just like we're telling you now!

April 13

This is when the Songkran festival starts

(<http://songkranday.com/songkran-2017-dates-when-is-songkran-2017/>) and it goes until April 15th. They celebrate with huge water fights but I'm not sure when. Probably best we ask around town to get infor because the internet can lie. We're getting in kinda late (by the time we get to the hotel and such) so maybe we could just go check out bars in town or something call it a night?

We should do (<http://www.phuket.com/magazine/patong-nightlife.htm>) :

Bengala road: they have bars with drunk jenga. Also is described as "downing 8 beers in 1 sitting is child's play". I like the way they think Soi Seadragon: the whole point of this place is to essentially drive a nail into a tree before everyone else. I'm into it?

Depart from Bangkok & Arrival in Phuket

Andrew- April 13th 7pm

Arrival: 8:20

Confirmation # JW5Z5U (Air Asia)

Claire-April 13th 7pm

Arrival:8:20

Confirmation# KWKSVH (Air Asia) ---> I'm a lowkey idiot because I was looking at my return flight to HK

Hotel Info: Patong Signature Boutique Hotel

Address: 4,6,8, Thaweewong Rd, Patong, Phuket 83150

Confirmation: 7249804775499

April 14

1pm-7pm- Thinking we should do Phi Phi Island this day. The cruise I'm looking at is supposed to be so dope and it takes you to all the good spots there plus theres kayaking, snorkeling, monkeys and if you want to scuba dive you can (even if you aren't certified). Its $87USD for you and $72 for me (sorry the world isn't always fair) and theres food and hella beer included. This would be a good place to meet other travelers and get their insight on what else we should do. (<http://phiphiboozecruise.com/cruise-schedule/>) The best part is, it's decently close so when we get back we don't have to be worried about transportation because public transportation shuts down around 7pm apparently. 18min walk, 4min car ride (sorry my skills aren't nearly as good as yours)

Depart Phuket and Arrival in Bangkok

Andrew- Depart April 19th at 9:50pm
 Arrive in Bangkok 11:10PM
 Confirmation # WKV2FT (Air Asia)
 Claire- Depart April 19th 7:20am (kill me)
 HK arrival: 2:30

Depart Bangkok and Arrival in NYC

Andrew- Depart April 20th at 8:35PM
 Arrives JFK at 9:40AM
 Confirmation # VNLANQ (Etihad Airways)

Claire-June 1st screams

BANGKOK	PHUKET
✓ Floating market (damnoen Saduak)	Kathu waterfall (1)
✓ Siam Square	Elephant trekking (2)
✓ Thonburi	Bang Pae Waterfall (hike and picnic lax day)
✓ Grand palace and temple of the emerald buddha	Tonsai Waterfall
✓ Wat Arun (see at night)-temple	Phang Nga bay (james bond island)
✓ Khoasan Road (think golden gai outdoor	Phi Phi Islands (4)-DOPE booze cruise with night life)	cliff diving and monkey beaches. Enough said

✓Wat Pho	Rainforest bungee jumping (3)
Sukhumvit (Asoke)	Big Buddha
✓Patpong road (basically really cheap strip clubs)	Kata Noi beach (kata)
✓Museum of Siam	Surin beach (Surin)
Bangkok national museum	Wat Khoa Rang
✓Asiatique the Riverside	Raya Islands (snorkeling/secret beaches)
Havana Social Club (club/bar that my friend recommened)
✓Sky bar (so cliché but they filmed the hang over here)

1. <https://www.phuket101.net/kathu-waterfall/>
2. http://jctour-phuket.com/all thing to do/elephant-lover.php?gclid=Cj0KEQIA9P7FBRCtoO33 LGUtPQBEiQAU tBgLmNRHSP2fCboYi3P3rtw6GWSPYuDXdbaNqrIBu4ktkaAlzM8P8 HAQ
3. <http://www.phuketbungy.com/>
4. <http://www.gokohphipi.com/booze-cruise.html> ,
<http://www.simbaseatrips.com/tours/phi-phi-sunrise/>
5. Decent waterfall hike website: <https://www.phuket101.net/phuket-waterfalls/>

http://triptophuket.com/tour_detail.php?id=8 - this website has good island tours recommended by a blogger I found and the prices are really good

BARS/RESTAURANTS :

Diavolo (Phuket) - italian/thai, amazing sunset views, boogie vibes
Wassa Homemade bar (Phuket)- sunset cocktails, chill vibes